Two Faded Portraits.
Lovers of the mysterious will be interested in this authentic story. Two years ago the portraits of President Harrison, Mrs. Harrison and Dr. Scott were reproduced in a group on glass. Several copies were made. Each portrait was colored and touched up by the artist who took the group. One of these pictures was given to a near relative of the president, who lives in Baltimore. The portraits were all good likenesses, and she prized them very highly. Here is where the mysterious part comes in. About three months before Mrs. Harrison's death the colors in her picture on the glass commenced to fade. When she died, only the head was visible, and that faintly.
Then the same phenomenon was observed in Dr. Scott's portrait. It began to grow dimmer and dimmer until only the head remained. Dr. Scott died within a few weeks of his daughter. The curious part of the matter is that President Harrison's portrait stands out as clear and strong as it did on the day it was finished. The same colors were used on all these portraits, and there is no apparent reason why one should not last as long as the other.—New York Press

Waiting For the Inevitable.
It was awfully funny until the quiet gaze of his chief rested upon him then under that serene surveillance the humor seemed to vanish in an unaccountable way. However, as he had begun with the entertainment, he was resolved to carry it through.
"So you are a staunch Democrat, are you?" remarked his chief.
"From way back, sir," replied the clerk.
"And have a heart filled with rejoicing, eh?"
"I'm full to the neck, sir."
"Very well, you're too good a Democrat to labor under the degrading rule of a Republican administration," returned the chief. "I think that party is still in power. I'll call its attention to your case and see what can be done to relieve you from so vile a servitude."
There was some more fun for those who had witnessed the parade and listened to the speech of the chief, but there was none for the Democrat, who now exists in daily expectation of receiving notice that the government will be pleased to hear of his resignation.—Kate Field's Washington.

Why Mr. Depew Rides Home.
Until this winter Chauncey M. Depew has made it a practice to walk home from the numerous dinners he is called on to attend. He always found it, he said, an aid to digestion and a famous inducer to sound sleep to walk home in the quiet night after a public banquet and the attendant excitement.
"But this winter," said he, "so many men began to step up to me in the street that I grew a little nervous. They all knew my name. Now, it is a bit startling to be called at dead of night to have a man whom he has not noticed approach suddenly appear in front of him and wake him out of his reverie by a brisk good evening or a request for a night's lodging. I haven't had any one make a more serious demand than for a night's lodging, but I began to think that a more unpleasant demand might be made some time, and the result was that I abandoned my late walks, and now I always ride home."—New York Times.

A Wakened Conscience.
The following letter is published in a recent issue of the Kansas City Times.
Eleven years ago for its want column I stole a Times from your office. I considered my theft no sin.
Through an advertisement I obtained work. Through that I enjoyed an ever increasing prosperity.
I married.
Many times, while seated in our pretty parlor of an evening, has my wife importuned me to pay for the stolen paper that was the cause of our good fortune. To me a business man the idea has seemed feasible and sensible.
Since she attended the Coates House short skirt convention my wife's requests have ceased.
She now commands.
Today I reluctantly send cents to The Times conscience fund.

A Popular Contribution.
A New York clergyman told his congregation the other Sunday that all those who put $5 in the contribution box would get $50 back in their business within a year, and that if they failed to realize that promise they could draw on him personally for that amount. The box promptly filled with crisp $5 notes, and the contributors realize the tenfold return it is probably safe to say that this church will not be large enough to hold the congregation next year.—Chicago Tribune.

A Telegraph Along the Nile.
Cecil Rhodes, manager of the British South Africa company, is contemplating the advisability of extending a telegraph line from Cape Town to Alexandria via Uganda, Khartoum and the towns along the Nile. A company has been formed, it is stated, with a capital of $2,000,000 to carry the project into effect.

A Beggar's Ring.
The street beggars in Barcelona have entered into a solemn covenant to withdraw from circulation all the 2-centime pieces which they receive from the charitable public, so as to compel their benefactors to give them the coin next in value—viz., 5 centimes.—Dia.

The executors of the will of W. J. Gordon, the Cleveland millionaire, have refused to accept the compensation provided for them in that instrument—$5,000 a year—because it is not explicitly specified that they shall each have that amount.

"General" Booth has so far succeeded in raising only some $16,000 of the $25,000 he wants to carry on his "Darkest England" scheme of social regeneration though he has made remarkable efforts to secure subscriptions.

Whatever may be the outcome of Garner's reported trip to the land of the gorillas, science must remain indebted to him for his discoveries and the opening up of new fields on the subject of animals.

Matters of Interest From Home and Abroad.

Washington Notes.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The original drafts of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States will not be sent to the World's Fair.

Secretary Carlisle is having prepared a list of employees of the Treasury Department with the salaries they receive and will have it arranged by States. The list is prepared already to such an extent as to show great disproportion among States, some having many more clerks than their proper quota and others less.

Secretary Carlisle was busy to-day making official changes in the Treasury Department. He called for the resignation of H. O. McLean, Chief Clerk of the Architect's office, and in his place appointed Charles F. Kemper of Staunton, Virginia.

The resignation of Frank Smith, Chief of the Division Architect's office, was tendered and accepted.

General Daniel McCauley, the late appointment as Clerk of the Treasury Department, was appointed Chief Clerk of the Immigration Bureau, vice Hall's resignation.

Two meetings were discharged and two Democrats appointed in their places. It is estimated the public debt statement to be issued to-morrow will show a gain in available cash during the month of $1,500,000.

The position of Assistant Meteorological Observer for Weather Bureau stations outside of Washington were placed in classified service, and the United States Civil Service commission is now prepared to receive applicants.

General Hiram Borden, inventor of the famous Borden long range fender torpedo and rifle, died suddenly at the Metropolitan Club in this city this evening. He was ill for some time with angina pectoris.

Two diplomatic appointments are expected to be made shortly. They are: Hattie Taylor of Mobile, Ala., to be Minister to Spain, and John Van Allen of New York to Italy. These appointments are believed to have been practically decided upon. Mr. Taylor is a lawyer of ability and an author of some repute, having written a history of the origin and development of the English constitution, which has become a text book in schools. Mr. Van Allen is a man of great wealth and it is accredited with having contributed $50,000 to the funds of the late campaign.

He married into the Armitage family. He married into the Armitage family.

Anybody of ordinary intelligence, who can understand plain English, can see from the action of the Convention above quoted, which says the Legislature shall, at its next session after the question is submitted to the people, provide by law for calling a Convention, that the Legislature of 1893, had no authority to call a Constitutional Convention, and the goldbugs must find other cause for complaint against its members.

SHERMAN AND JONES.

Senator Jones of Nevada while in New York City a few days ago, advocated free coinage in Wall Street and gave the panic-breeders to understand in forcible language that the Bullion Purchase Act is not to be repealed unless a free coinage bill is enacted. At the same time that Senator Jones was preaching free coinage in New York a Republican banquet was being held at Canton, Ohio, at which a letter from Senator Sherman was read in which the great goldbug said the only way to solve the silver question is to put all the silver in a silver dollar that can be purchased in the market for a gold dollar. This, at the present time, would increase the weight of silver in the standard dollar from 371 1/4 grains to 577 1/2 grains.

Both Senator Jones and Senator Sherman are Republicans, and as the silver question is the most important issue of the day, it seems like a burlesque to have two public men entertaining views so diametrically opposite on this great question, members of the same political party. Senator Jones opposed the force bill, is a strong advocate of free coinage, and is said to favor tariff modification, and why he should cling to a party which diffuses from him on those principles and blindly follows Senator Sherman, is one of the incomprehensible mysteries of politics.

If the silver question comes before Congress when it assembles, and that it will there is not much doubt, and is not satisfactorily settled, the friends of free coinage, whatever party they may have, heretofore affiliated with, should divest themselves of old prejudices, and unite in making common cause against the goldbugs at the polls next year and elect a Congress pledged to relieve the people from the thrall of Wall Street.

THE RENO POSTOFFICE.

A statement of the business transacted at the Reno postoffice for the year ending this date, prepared by Postmaster Kraus, appears in the JOURNAL. It shows an increase of about eight per cent, in the receipts, and an immense volume of business, the money orders amounting to $42,000 in round numbers, and those paid to nearly $27,000. The number of letters received and dispatched is estimated at 750,000. Reno is now the largest postoffice in the State and it is conducted in a manner that gives general satisfaction and no reasonable cause for complaint.

Getting Thin

is often equivalent to getting ill. If loss of flesh can be arrested and disease baffled the "weak spots" in the system are eradicated.

Scott's Emulsion

is an absolute corrective of "weak spots." It is a builder of worn out failing tissue—nature's food that stops waste and creates healthy flesh.

Boy Murderers Sentenced.
CHICAGO, March 31.—Two boys, one fourteen and the other fifteen years of age, were to-day given practically life sentences in the penitentiary for murder, both being sent up for forty years. The youngest of the two is William Binook and the other John T. Laveine. The crime for which both were convicted was the murder of Albert Eckroth in May last. One of them pushed a revolver in Eckroth's face while the other attempted to rob him. Eckroth resisted and was shot dead. Binook was captured running from the scene and by and by made a confession implicating Laveine, who was arrested the following day. When the verdict was rendered this afternoon Laveine was overcome but Binook took it calmly.

Prison Management Censured.

JACKSON, Mich., March 31.—The jury which has been investigating the escape of Irving Lattimer from the State Prison and its attending tragedy, to-night returned a verdict severely censuring the management of the prison for gross negligence generally and censuring particularly Major Taber and Morris Gill for carelessness and negligence of official duties.

Ripsey Indicted.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—W. C. Ripsey, the old man who shot John W. Mackay and then shot himself, has been indicted by the grand jury for assault to commit murder. Bail was fixed at $5,000.

Weather Forecast.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—The forecast for Nevada is fair weather and warmer in the northern portion.

FOSTER'S FORECAST.

A Period of Warm Weather—Genesee, Geology and Astronomy Harmonize.
Copyrighted 1893 by W. T. Foster.
St. Joseph Mo., March 31, 1893.
My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from March 29th to April 2d. The next will reach the Pacific Coast about April 2d, cross the Western mountains by the close of the 4th, the Great Central Valley from the 5th to the 7th and the Eastern States about the 8th.
The storm will inaugurate a period of Summer-like weather and the S. and W. will appear to rapidly advance from Winter to Summer in the Northern States without an intervening Spring and will culminate in a wave of high temperature that will cross the continent from April 15th to 20th.
A comparatively cool wave will cross the Western mountains about the 6th, the Great Central Valley about the 8th and the Eastern States about the 10th.
The second storm wave of April will reach the Pacific Coast about the 9th, cross the Western mountains by the close of the 10th, the Great Central Valley from the 11th to the 13th and the Eastern States about the 14th. The warm wave preceding this will give a much higher temperature than the preceding storm wave did, and the storm will become dangerous in the Eastern States about the 14th. The cool wave will cross the Western mountains about the 12th, the Great Central Valley about the 14th and the Eastern States about the 16th. Floods may be expected in Northern water courses.
THE RAINBOW OF PROMISE
All must admit that if there ever was an age in which the earth was not watered by rain, it was a wilderness, winterless and stormless, and that the sun did not and could not shine directly upon the earth. Moses says: "The Lord had not caused it to rain upon the earth," and geologists bear out all these statements. If the earth's rings were similar to those we now see surrounding Jupiter, it can be easily understood that as these successive rings approached the earth at the equator they would spread out toward the poles, thereby hiding the sun, and as the matter of these rings would cause a flood when precipitated to the earth, natural law requires that there should have been numerous floods, the last of which occurred at the time of Noah.
There are many reasons for believing that the human race had attained a much higher state of intelligence before Noah's flood than since, and as those great catastrophes were of comparatively frequent occurrence, it is not unreasonable that Noah, from a scientific standpoint, might have known 120 years in advance when the next debacle would occur. Cloud belts and rings surrounding a planet must necessarily incline very slowly until they reach the atmosphere. While revolving rapidly around the planet they would be kept aloft by centrifugal force and the buoyancy of the atmosphere, but as soon as they would reach the atmosphere the belts would rapidly break up and decline in a great flood.
GEOLOGY PROVES
Beyond any question that there were frequent great floods following the downfall of carbon in the carboniferous age, and there is no conflict between geology and astronomy on this question. The preachers are at fault for any apparent conflict between geology and Genesis, but the preachers are being taught many useful lessons by the scientists. Genesis speaks of seven periods, and the preacher, or priest, misinterpreted this to be an days. When the seven day idea of creation was established in the mind of the human race the priest had a monopoly of the education and intelligence of the times, and although, under the circumstances, we cannot greatly censure them, yet it was a mistake which they now freely admit. The fact of that great, serious and mischievous error on the part of the priests and preachers entitles the scientists to a further learning as to the interpretation of Genesis by the light of scientific facts and reasoning.
The evidences furnished by the cloud belts of all the major planets, except the earth and Mars, together with the geologic record, prove that our earth was surrounded by great cloud belts and that these fell to the earth, causing the humbreds, the coal beds and the floods, and the history of man, as found in Genesis, confirms this theory. Following these ideas to their legitimate conclusion the story of the rainbow as found in Genesis is another strong argument.
There was no rainbow to be seen while the upper d-dop, the cloud belts, shot out the sun, and when the last of these belts fell in Noah's flood the skies were cleared and the rainbow appeared. Genesis makes no mistake in placing the first appearance of the rainbow after the flood, for universal law demands that it could not have appeared before.
MAN BEFORE THE FLOOD.
That man lived 800 or 900 years before the flood is not unreasonable from two well known laws. First, before the moon came to the earth the latter was much nearer the sun than now and therefore the years were shorter. This law has recently been argued at great length by astronomers in reference to Holmes' comet which caused so much alarm recently. It is argued by them that Holmes' comet is newly formed from two planets coming in collision and that the new-formed gases resulting from the collision so greatly increased the combined atmosphere that it went together that the newly formed comet was immediately carried outside of the orbit of the two planets and the comet is still going from the sun. This would have been the result in case of the earth if struck by our moon-comet.
If the earth formerly occupied an orbit between Mercury and Venus, 900 of its years then would be equal to only about 850 of the present years of the earth. Astronomers will not deny that a collision between our moon-comet and the earth would cause a result somewhat similar to what is figured out above, and physicians will not deny that the average life of man is now increasing and under favorable circumstances might have been much greater than now.
These favorable circumstances were present in the Edenic age and this is the second reason assigned that man lived longer before than since the flood. It was a rainless, stormless, and as period without the burning and killing rays of the sun which we now experience. The human race has become used to the conditions of that age which vegetation was a thousand times more rank and extensive than now and for the very reason that plants taken from a green house, where they were sheltered from the fierce sunbeams, and placed in the sun's rays on a sandy desert would wither and die, so it was with a man. When the upper deep, the cloud belts, had cleared away the killing rays of the sun out down the average life of the race. Now if the human race is becoming accustomed to the new condition, the age of manhood and the rainbow, the average life of man is again lengthening and may in time go up to where the oldest might live to an age of 400.
There are beautiful harmonies existing between Genesis, geology, astronomy and the universal, unchanging laws of nature.
SKILLFUL COUNTERFEITERS.
The Coins Which They Make Defy Ordinary Tests.
A Spokane dispatch says the most skillful and best organized gang of counterfeiters that ever operated in the Northwest has just been discovered in this city. The character of their work is so perfect as to defy every ordinary test. With their shrewd method of distributing the coins it is believed that hundreds of them are already scattered through the city and surrounding towns. It was only last evening that the first spurious coin was detected, and already a number of others have been found. The counterfeit is almost a perfect imitation of the silver dollar of 1892. The work is done in a most finished manner, and the head of the Goddess of Liberty is so perfect that it cannot be distinguished from that of real coin by the most careful tests. The coin is made of silicon and silver, so balanced as to give the exact weight of 412 1/2 grains. When thrown upon a counter the coin rings in the most natural manner and no means of distinguishing the counterfeit from the real coin has yet been discovered except by running it through a testing machine. Even in this it answers every requirement except in thickness. The milled edge of the counterfeit is a trifle thicker than that of the real coin, though a few months' wear would quickly remove this difference.
The coins are bright and new and evidently have just left the dies. The officers are satisfied that they cannot have come from the East, but have been made either in Idaho, on the Sound or in Spokane. Most of them are convinced that they have been made here, and in any event they are satisfied that this is the principal center of distribution. The quality of the work and methods of distribution are said to tally exactly with the record of a gang of counterfeiters that was run out of Miss Supple a few years ago. They made coins of silver and silicon the same way, but did not make them quite as perfect as those found last night. In spite of every effort they worked without interruption for several weeks and simply escaped without leaving a single clue. Many believe that this gang, or at least its leaders, have re-assembled in Spokane. Two or three important clues have been obtained and it is believed that startling developments will appear in a few days.

Passed Over His Veto.
FARMER, A. T., March 31.—Governor Murphy has exercised the veto power three times during the present term of the Legislature and in each case the bill was passed over his head. The third bill was the Jones bill, to change the time required before becoming a citizen from six to twelve months, was made a party measure and passed the council, eight to three, being a strict party vote, Hubbell of Apache having been secured for the balance of the term.
A Unique Invention.
The last application of the penny-in-the-slot principle is characterized by common sense, ingenuity and utility. Hitherto the public has been the victim of the machine with coppers in the return for value. In the latest plan the process has been reversed. To the person who turns a crank 100 times the machine yields up one penny. The crank is connected inside with a dynamo, and the 100 revolutions of the handle manufacture and store a quantity of electrical energy which is to be eventually retailed by the owners of the machine for the purpose of producing illumination.
The plan appears to be feasible enough, and it would certainly in districts where unemployed labor abounded be productive of considerable good. No man need go in want of a meal who can apply himself to the electrical automatic machine. And the invention might be capable of wide application. Why should not every household be provided with one? Every member of the family might in the name of exercise give the handle so many hundred turns a day sufficient, if that were possible, to provide electricity enough for the purposes of lighting.
The turning of the crank might supersede dumbbell practice in the mornings, and during the summer months it might be possible to store enough electrical energy to tide over the winter. From the point of view of the man in the street it would be interesting to know what income he could make in a week by a reasonable expenditure of effort. Even if only 100 revolutions could be performed in five minutes, the operator would be working at the rate of a shilling an hour, a scale of remuneration much in excess of that paid in some industries involving quite as much physical exertion.—Electricity.
The Intricacies of Wall Street.
Just after Jay Gould's death, a wealthy Wall street broker made a proposition to a young man who was not wealthy but who had been able to do the broker a favor, which the latter appreciated. The proposition was couched in language something like this: "Dick, you have rendered me a valuable service, and I want to do something for you. I will carry 100 shares of Manhattan stock for you for a month, or I will buy you the best suit of clothes that you can pick out. Which will you take?"
The young man considered the proposition for a few minutes and replied: "I believe that Manhattan railway stock will eventually go up, but if I should be the holder of 100 shares it would be certain to go down. Such is my luck invariably I will take the suit of clothes."
On Friday this young man figured up how much he had lost by making the choice that he did. When Mr. Gould died, Manhattan was selling at 132. On Friday it sold at a fraction above 174. Had the young man chosen the 100 shares and sold them Friday he would have been about $4,300 richer.—New York Times.
Manufacturing Petrified Corpses.
A factory for the manufacture of petrified human corpses has, it is alleged, been discovered in Fresno, Cal. At least four petrified people are said to have been manufactured and shipped to museums from this place. It may be remembered that a petrified man created considerable talk in Utah last fall, and that reports of the authenticity were printed by natural history experts and pronounced a fraud, but it netted considerable money for the "miners" who discovered it. The objects were very carefully made, the bones of the legs and arms being hollowed out, and in one case one arm and a foot was broken off to show the internal structure. The fake factory, it is said, stole a genuine mummified man—a dried body found on the plains—from the health officer at Fresno, fixed it up a little and shipped it to a museum in the east.—New York Sun.
Punishment to Fit.
Frenchmen must regard their celebrated hognors as something almost sacred. Two men, named Duchesne and Dumont, were convicted the other day of having fired the factory of the Benedictine liquor at Focamp, which was destroyed a year ago, and the sentence on each of them was penal servitude for life. I doubt if it would have run to that for an abbey without a liquor factory attached. They want a "legal pillory" in France.—London Truth.
Death of an Estimable Lady.
Mrs. Hillman, wife of Professor F. H. Hillman of the State University, died at Ithaca, N. Y., night before last. The lady had been ill for some time, and was treated by the most eminent physicians in San Francisco. She went east, accompanied by her husband, some time ago for treatment, but the disease, cancer of the breast, baffled the skill of the best physicians in New York. Professor Hillman left yesterday for Ithaca, and the funeral will not take place until he arrives. The lady had many friends in Reno, who regret her untimely death and deeply sympathize with the professor in his hour of affliction.
